Managing Partner

Tiffany Tsang's insurance litigation practice focuses on the defence of complex personal injury claims arising out of motor vehicle accidents.

Tiffany enjoys the diversity of practicing personal injury defence. She believes each claim is unique and tells a different story. Each matter requires collaboration and consultation with her client to identify an appropriate resolution strategy that could range from early settlement to a complex jury trial, depending on her client's objectives.

Prior to entering the legal profession, Tiffany worked in student services and community development for the University of Alberta. Her team building and management skills have transferred perfectly to her legal career. Apart from managing her busy litigation practice, Tiffany serves as the firm's primary liaison with a major institutional client. She oversees all aspects of the relationship, from matching files assignments to the lawyers with the appropriate expertise, in-house training on practice management and current legal issues, to streamlining of procedures and practice to improve efficiency in litigating claims.
